"Gee! I Wish There Was a Piano Here"—
Said a Soldier Boy, Saturday

Even in the "dug-outs" our boys must have music. Here is a drawing taken from a photograph (copyrighted by Western Newspaper Union) showing officers of a machine gun detachment in a dug-out on the Somme. HE was on a boat carrying 1,000 aviation students to West Point, and he wanted to play, to sing—he wanted MUSIC. All the boys want it. And so, to help them get it, we are going to hold tomorrow, Wednesday,

A Sale of Used and New (Reduced) Pianos and Player-Pianos

WHETHER you're in town or in the country, you'll probably have some of the boys visit you during the Summer, and you'll want to give them music. In this Sale you can get a piano or player-piano for so much less than you would have to pay for a new instrument. And it will be just as satisfactory for the purpose—in some cases more so because the used piano is seasoned, and for country or seaside use is preferable to a new instrument.

FINISH SUBWAYS AT CONTRACTORS' COST, SAYS CRAIG

Their Action Abandons Work and Imposed Mandatory Duty on P. S. C., He Asserts.

"The action of the subway contractors is a practical abandonment of their work," declared Comptroller Craig to-day in speaking of the subway strike. "And it imposes a mandatory duty upon the Public Service Commission to proceed under existing contracts to finish the subways without delay at the expense of the contractors and the sureties."

"Failure to do so would amount to a gross betrayal of the city's interests. There is ample labor to do the work at the rate of wages sought by the men who are on strike."

"I am insistent that the subways be finished without delay and that the workmen be paid a just rate. I am equally insistent that the city be protected against the rapacious raids of the subway contractors. Many of them have made large profits out of the city and it is no time for them to practice 'heads I win and tails you lose' with the city."

This is the city's ultimatum to Public Service Commission, with which it has been warring over legal technicalities concerning unfinished subways. These snarls have brought about the strike of 7,000 men, the tying up of more than $25,000,000 worth of subway work and the delaying of the city's sharing in transit profits.

Comptroller Craig charged that there is a group of subway contractors who have large Government jobs and who want their contracts with the city cancelled. He added that there were three groups of contractors whose interests were conflicting and their action was a plain case of manipulation whereby the more powerful contractors seek to exploit the city and in so doing do not risk forcing the other contractors into bankruptcy and delaying the work. The contractors, he asserted, misled the public about the strike. He declared the Board of Estimate had offered all the financial relief that the situation required.

Borough President Frank L. Dowling, who is a member of the Board of Estimate, to-day said "the plan of settlement proposed by the contractors seems to be all profit to them and to their sureties, and all loss to the city."

"While I am not at all deceived or stampeded by the sudden interest in the convenience of the public manifested by the combination of subway contractors who for about five years showed no concern over the impatience of the public to have the city's subways finished," added Mr. Dowling, "I think there should be a thorough understanding as to the merits of the contractors' claims as well as the loss that the public may sustain by either surrendering to the contractors or further delaying the completion of rapid transit work. If the contractors had lived up to the contracts they signed, or been compelled to regard the provisions of the contracts, we would not be in this mess. Disregard of the terms of the subway construction contracts has been scandalous. Hundreds of thousands of men and women are inconvenienced daily because the contract provisions were disregarded."

Matthew A. McConville, leader of the 7,000 striking subway workers, was not certain to-day that he could induce the men to refuse other jobs between now and Friday, when the Board of Estimate will again try to adjust differences.

"Nearly a thousand men have already been offered other jobs, but they have at least temporarily turned them down," said McConville. "They are waiting patiently for some move that will put an end to the trouble."

$2,000 FOR MANICURIST.

Miss Mundy Wins Second Appeal in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn.

In the second appeal of a suit for damages Ethel Mundy, a manicurist, living at No. 711 St. Mark's Avenue, Brooklyn, to-day won a verdict of $2,000 in the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court in Brooklyn against the Levy Bros. Realty Company, owners of an apartment house at No. 1112 Dean Street.

Miss Mundy sustained injuries of the spine in an elevator accident at the Dean Street house in May.

445,000 in Hello "Where's Who."

There are 445,000 names of subscribers in the new telephone directories, delivery of which began yesterday. A suburban book lists 217,000 persons, a new central, Knickerbocker, brings the number in the Greater City to eighty-eight. The new office will relieve the Greeley district. The city and suburban directories, along with others that will be issued by the telephone company this month, will have a combined circulation of 2,915,000.

K. OF C. SPENDING MILLIONS TO AID TROOPS IN FRANCE

Returned Officials Tell of Great Work Americans Are Accomplishing There.

How upwards of $2,000,000 was expended for Knights of Columbus war work in France was told by William J. Mulligan, a Supreme Director of the organization, and the Rev. P. J. McGivney, Supreme Chaplain, who returned yesterday from a three months' mission abroad. What the American Y. W. C. A. is doing for the French women munition workers was described by five leaders in the work, who reached New York within the last few days.

The Knights of Columbus contracted for forty-one huts and now has most of them in operation. A headquarters also was leased in Paris. One hundred and seventy-five Knights of Columbus Secretaries are serving with the American Expeditionary Force. The returning men found the greatest degree of co-operation between the Knights of Columbus, the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., the Salvation Army and other relief agencies. From the trench heirarchy, Father McGivney and Mr. Mulligan received assurances of aid. The French Government has assigned fifty English-speaking priests to assist the Knights of Columbus.

It was announced that Lawrence O. Murray, former Comptroller of the Currency, will go to France at once as Deputy K. of C. Overseas Commissioner, with Dr. E. W. Buckley, Supreme Physician of the order, and John J. McGraw, a Supreme Director, who will supervise hygienic and business arrangements.

SUES TO REGAIN CHILDREN.

Woman Says Husband Spirited Them Out of the City.

Asserting her belief that her two children, Ethel and Alice, have been spirited out of the city and "secreted against their will," Mrs. Agnes Boyd of No. 216 West 64th Street, to-day petitioned Supreme Court Justice Giegerich to issue a writ of habeas corpus requiring Odell Boyd, her husband, to produce the children in court.

Mrs. Boyd says that on June 2, Boyd, who has been living apart from her for some time, called at her apartment and requested permission to take the children to a photograph gallery to have their pictures taken. She consented, and has not seen them since.

Mrs. Boyd says she has, without avail, requested, urged and pleaded for their return.

JENNIE HAS ONE HUSBAND TOO MANY, GROSS SAYS

Wife of Dr. Glicher Held for Grand Jury on Charge of Bigamy.

Dr. Solomon Glicher of No. 16 East 105th Street, was strolling along 19th Street with his wife last Friday night when a strange man with a gold smile came forward and held out his hand to Mrs. Glicher.

"Why, Jennie, where have you been all these years?" he said.

She stared at him coldly and her husband stared hotly. There was a quarrel between the two men, but they parted when Glicher had given his address. Then the stranger went to the Fourth Branch Detective Bureau. "My name is Morris Gross," he said. I live at No. 78 Maple Street, Yonkers. I married Jennie Weiss in Brooklyn about 8, 1914, and she ran away soon after. I never saw her again until tonight when I met her with Dr. Glicher, a dentist, who says she is his wife. Now where do I get off?"

Detective Leonard and Grossman investigated. They learned that the alleged second marriage took place at the City Hall on June 11, 1917. So the woman was arrested on a charge of bigamy. This morning she was arraigned before Magistrate Nolan in the Centre Street Court, where she waived examination and was held in $1,500 bail for the grand jury. The charge is bigamy.

Resinol

surely did knock out that eczema

Three days ago, my arm was simply covered with red, itching eruption and I thought I was up against it for fair. But Joe had a jar of Resinol in his kit. I used a little and the itching stopped right off. In the morning most of the redness was gone and a couple more applications finished it up.

See How Teeth Glisten When That Film Is Gone

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

There's a New Way To Save Teeth

There is now a way to combat the film which causes nearly all tooth troubles. It has the endorsement of great dental authorities, after three years of clinical tests.

It brings a new era in teeth cleaning.

The product is called Pepsodent. And this week we offer a One-Week tube to let everyone see its effects.

That film on teeth is what wrecks them—that slimy film which you feel. It clings to the teeth. It gets into crevices, hardens and stays, and resists the tooth brush.

That film is what discolors—not your teeth. It hardens into tartar. It holds food which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. And they lead to many other infections.

Dental science has for years sought a way to end that film. Teeth can never be safe, never white or clean, with that film left upon them. Decay and pyorrhea have constantly increased, despite the fact that millions brush teeth daily.

Now the way has been found, and we ask you to try it. Give it a one-week test. Compare the results with your old methods.

Pepsodent is dairy. Its use is delightful. But the reason for using it is white, filmless teeth. See what they mean to you.
